Although, instead of, unless, provided, unlike, in spite of.

In spite of her being very young and inexperienced, Mrs Hughes is a very competent teacher. Although she is small, she is not afraid of unruly and troublesome boys.

Unless they obey her, they are sure to get in trouble. provided they do as they are told, she encourages them. unlike most young teachers, she chose to come and work in this difficult school instead of working in an easy middle-class area.
